Guidance on English Learners (Live webinars)

High-Quality Distance Learning Resources for English Learners

In these unprecedented times, it is extremely important to continue to support our English learner (ELs) by providing high-quality resources for distance/virtual learning. For ELs, this means offering content area supports and providing resources to help them develop their English proficiency and support their native/home language. Join us as we highlight several high-quality resources for ELs that provide important strategies and scaffolds for content area learning and help them continue to develop their English language proficiency at home.

Best Practices for Serving English Learners

Over the past several years, the population of English learners (ELs) in Connecticut's public schools has continued to grow both within and across districts. Despite our small size geographically, Connecticut communities vary widely in their EL populations, ranging from zero to over 3,000 ELs in districts around the state. Given this demographic diversity and the unique needs of ELs, what are the best program models through which to serve these students? Are there models that honor students' cultural and linguistic diversity, and if so, where are they being implemented? Join us for a webinar designed for building and district administrators to explore research on the academic outcomes of ELs in various programs and to look closer at districts around the state that are implementing research-based models which are proving effective for EL students.

Directions for Sharing Best District Practices in Connecticut

As districts across the state have stepped up to provide learning opportunities for students, we know that there are many amazing things going on throughout our state on behalf of students. We want to highlight and share best practices around distance learning, early childhood practices, English learners, food distribution etc. This overview will give districts additional information on how to submit your best practices so we can share through social media and our website so we can all learn from and share with each other. We would love to share your examples too.
